TRAFFIC TOLL IS HEAVY IN STATE

Richmond, Va.- Virginia entered the last quarter of 1959 with a slight reduction in traffic deaths when compared to the similar period of 1958, according to statistics released today by Colonel C. W. Woodson, Jr., Superintendent of State Police and Chairman of the Governor's Highway Safety Committee.

Although 1959 deaths stood at 617 at midnight of September 30, as against 619 for the 1958 period, Colonel Woodson said that the slight lead stood every chance of elimination due to late reports or people dying subsequent to the dates they were injured. Here, he explained that deaths subsequent to times of injury revert to the injury dates for statistical purposes.

But for two unfortunate factors, Colonel Woodson noted, the record would have showed considerable progress. Pedestrian deaths were up from 106 in 1958 to 123 and two multiple fatal crashes during one September week-end saw a total of 16 deaths. In the latter case, he felt that bad luck entered the picture since the same circumstances leading to the tragedies killed as many people as happened to be occupying the involved vehicles and who did not contribute to the crash. In one case eight people died in the same car.

There were 65 crashes killing two or more people each for a total of 166 deaths during the 1959 period while 61 killed 150 people for the 1958 counterpart. The disturbing upward trend of fatal crashes in which one vehicle goes out of control and has no contact with another, however, dipped sharply downward with 221 killing 246 people. During the first three-quarters of 1958, 251 of these resulted in death for 281 people.

Calling attention to the fact that traffic volumes are up about 3 per cent over 1958, Colonel Woodson called public attention to the fact that the last three months of the year inevitably exceed those of any other quarter in traffic loaths. He listed early darkness, weather hazards, football week-ends, holidays and increased drinking as the salient factors.

"The last months of the year will determine whether we improve on our 1958 record or suffer a disheartening setback. We must realize that these seemingly cold statistics represent human lives and many types of human misery, almost invariably inflicted unnecessarily.." he said.
